What Was Done in March?

Fully Migrated to Zold

Zerocracy platform stopped sending payouts to programmers in PayPal and Bitcoin, as it was done before, and fully migrated to Zold, our own non-Blockchain cryptocurrency. We still have some integration tasks to complete, but overall we are happy with the migration: the daily volume of Zold is growing, and the community is adopting our product nicely. The daily traiding volume is close to 2,000 ZLD.

Immutability of Ledgers Was Proven

Zold cryptocurrency is in production for almost a year and managed to process over 25,000 transactions in about 3,500 wallets. The community of users is growing every day. However, up until recently we had serious technical issues, which made us not convinced enough that immutability of ledgers is guaranteed. The research and development of Zold over the last few weeks resolved those issues and the data exchange protocol is now solid.

Contracts with Crypto Exchanges

We've managed to find a few crypto-exchanges, who are ready to list our ZLD coin. At the moment we are integrating our WTS platform with two exchanges and hope to finish it by the end of April. There will be more exchanges in the pipeline, but it's very important to get to first few and let the market trade us.
